
MATTER CODE AXIOM
B R A R

MATTER CODE AXIOM is a study of materiality and timeless form, combining genuine stone, silver, stainless steel, glass and brass. The collection explores the meeting point between natural earth-born materials and the precise languange of chemistry, where raw matter meets refined form.

The pieces are shaped by the tension between geological and the elemental. Each piece is individually hand-formed, shaped by the distinct quality of its stone. Variations are inherent and celebrated, making every creation singular.

BRAR is a Basel-based jewellery and accessories label founded by designer and maker Theresa Brar. All pieces are individually hand-formed and assembled exploring the relationship between material, form and details. Glass, stone, metals and precious metals are combined using traditional and contemporary beading techniques alongside experimantel processes.

Grounded in craftmanship and driven by a contemporary designapproach, BRAR creates distinct pieces to wear, somewhere between jewellery, accessory and small-scale art objects.

The label primarily collaborates with renowned museum shops, including Fondation Beyeler, Kunstmuseum Zürich and exclusive design boutiques.
